

Magistrate Phillips yesterday afternoon. The discovery that Smith had taken his own life was made by Sheriff Phillips when he carried his dinner to the cell yesterday. He found Smith lying face downward on the floor with a knife in his back. A hasty examination told the sheriff that life was extinct, but he sent a hurry call for Dr. J. N. Nesbitt, the county physician.

Mr. W. L. Sandifer Dead.
Mr. W. L. Sandifer of the Philadelphia neighborhood, was found dead by a brook in a pasture belonging to Mr. F. D. Davidson, last Saturday afternoon. The deceased had been missing for more than a day, and the find was made by a little negro boy, who reported to citizens of the vicinity. Investigation disclosed that death was probably due to epilepsy, to which he was subject. A little black boy that he belonged to, the deceased, was guarding the body and refused to leave until the remains of his late master were safely deposited at home. The internment took place in Philadelphia cemetery on Sunday after services conducted by Rev. Henry Stokes. The deceased was a son of the late Phillip Sandifer, and was born about sixty-two years ago in the neighborhood where he spent his life. He was never married. His surviving brothers and sister are, Mr. C. H. Sandifer and Mrs. Sallie Carson of this place. E. and M. Sandifer and T. Sandifer of the Philadelphia neighborhood.

J. Frank Watson Dead.
The Hickory Grove community was saddened Sunday evening by the death of Mr. J. Frank Watson, which followed an illness of about six days with pneumonia and heart trouble. Death was not unexpected, as he appeared to be near the end of his life. The funeral and interment was at Salem cemetery yesterday morning following services conducted by Rev. H. B. McDaniel. Mr. Watson was the son of the late Milton Watson and was born Feb. 17, 1871. In early manhood he married Miss Carrie Buster of Texas, who together with eight children, survive him. The children are: Virgil, Lester, Ora, Loran, George, Charlie and Minnie Watson. The deceased was not only well known in his own community but throughout the county and his many friends regarded him as one of the staunchest citizens of the Hickory Grove neighborhood. Mr. Watson gave excellent service as supervisor of Broad River township. He was for many years a member of the Methodist church. His funeral was attended by a large concourse of sorrowing relatives and friends.

On Their Jobs.
Yesterday morning shortly after Southern passenger train No. 35, Conductor Albert Gott and Engineer Hamilton passed Yorkville at 7:22, one of the trainmen belonging to the freight crews that camp here every other night while about 1000 men are working on the new bridge. Found on the track east of the station, a piece of a wheel flange, and from its appearance and the application of Sherlock Holmes reasoning, figured it out that the flange was from an engine truck wheel. Quick examination of the flange showed that it belonged to the engine that was on the side track and the train held at Hickory Grove until another engine, No. 88, a freighter, came along to convey the train. The train, which was on its way, Railroad men do not like to contemplate the fearful wrecks that are sometimes caused by broken flanges and in this case they are thanking the vigilance of the finder of the broken flange and the location of the engine to which it belonged, which was liable to jump the track at any moment.

Big Picnic at Ebenezer.
Rock Hill special of July 31 to Charlotte Observer. The farmers' picnic given at Ebenezer yesterday by the farmers of this community to the Chamber of Commerce was a big success from every standpoint. The attendance numbered 1,500 to 2,000 people. The farmers' committee in charge, had made every preparation possible for the success of the event. The picnic was held in a large grove in Ebenezer and a stand for the speakers had been erected and decorated with flags and bunting. Mr. H. Steele, one of the leading farmers of this section presided and introduced the speakers. The town people there to their credit, the farmers furnished everything to make the day a success. A good band was on hand and furnished music for the day. The first speaker of the day was Fairfax Harrison, president of the Southern Railway who made a fine verification of crops. Dr. R. C. Coker of Hartselle, one of the best known farmers of the state, also a member of the Federal Reserve Bank, presided over the picnic. Mr. Harrison and Mr. Coker gave their hearers some practical thoughts, especially did Mr. Coker from his own experience as a farmer. L. A. Nivens of Atlanta, Ga., editor of Southern Farming, was the third speaker. Mr. Nivens is always heard with interest by an audience in this section as he was a former agricultural professor at Winthrop College in this city. While the ladies were arranging the dinner Mr. Steele introduced Prof. Charles E. Weeks, professor of agriculture at Winthrop college, who spoke to the farmers present in regard to the Alfalfa Association of which he is president, telling them where they should put their alfalfa. He also told them of the progress being made in regard to the York County Fair which will be held at Yorkville. After this the meeting adjourned and the dinner, which had been served on a long table which extended across the grove, was served. The food and everybody was invited to come and enjoy the same, which they did. There was an abundance of food and the things which only a good farming community can provide for an event of this kind. Big pots of soup and hash had been prepared by the special committee and was enjoyed by many present. After dinner United States Senator J. D. Smith was the first speaker and he devoted his time to the discussion of the cotton situation. Said the president and others of the cabinet were doing everything in their power to bring about relief in this matter and that he believed it would come as soon as the settlement of the matters pertaining to the American commerce could be satisfactorily arranged. The next speaker was Mr. W. W. Lewis, State agent of farm demonstration work, followed by Congressman D. E. Finley of York, which wound up the programme for the day.

WE STAND CORRECTED.

Mr. Lever Calls Courteous Attention to Error in Report.

Mr. W. D. Grist,
York, S. C.
My dear Mr. Grist:
In your write up of the Filbert meeting in the last issue of the Enquirer you quote me as giving Hoke Smith credit for joint authorship of the Cotton Futures Act. You were mistaken in this. I referred to Hoke Smith only in connection with the Warehouse Bill. I feel that I ought to make this statement to you in the interest of fairness. Of course I know that it was an easy matter for you to confuse the two bills.
With best wishes,
Your friend,
A. F. Lever,
Lexington, S. C., August 2, 1915.

An Outside View.—If those who are promoting the proposed home coming week at York are deliberately and purposely ignoring Editor Grist and the Yorkville Enquirer, they are making a very great mistake. They are indulging in petty spite and they are not hurting the Yorkville Enquirer.

The Yorkville Enquirer is known far and wide, and it is respected as far as it is known. The best paper in the town of Yorkville. It is now and it always has been a clean newspaper, and it has given Yorkville more favorable advertising than any other institution the town has ever had.

There is probably some sort of factionalism in the town of Yorkville, as there is in every town, but we think we have never known factionalism to go quite as far as it appears to have gone in this case.—Anderson Daily Mail.
